

Wood frog thriving in her habitat

FRIENDS OF HERRONTOWN WOODS

Partner with us, visit the woods, come on a nature walk, bring your camera, enjoy the sounds, sights and smells in this ever-changing but never conquered wilderness in the heart of Princeton NJ.

Wanted

Volunteers

- invasive plant removal
- trail maintenance
- gardeners
- website maintenance
- graphic design
- mathematicians
- scientists

Sponsors

- programs
- infrastructure

Donations

- building restoration
- programs

FRIENDS OF HERRONTOWN WOODS

About Us

We are committed to restoring the trails, history and flora of Herrontown Woods, and honoring the legacy of Oswald and Elizabeth Veblen, who left this first Princeton nature preserve, their house, cottage and farmstead in the public trust.

Contact or Follow Us

FOHW.org
 VeblenHouse.org
 facebook.com/
 FriendsOfHerrontownWoods
 stevehiltner@gmail.com

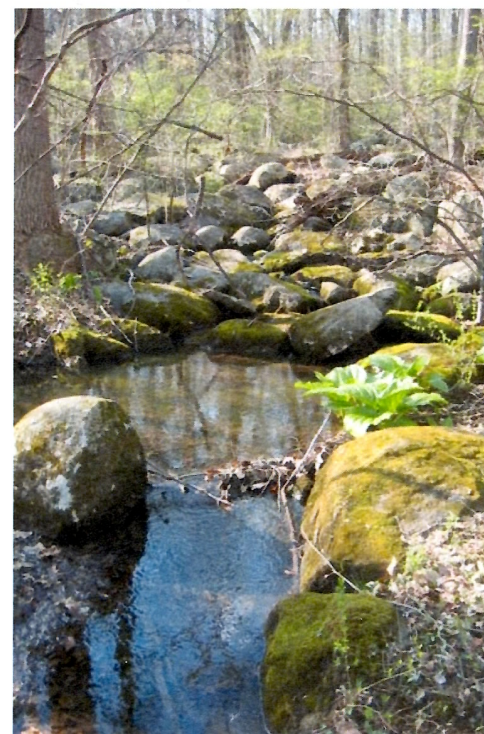

Recent News [April 2015]

- Marbled salamanders identified
- Plentiful frog and salamander eggs in vernal pools including uprooted trees from Hurricane Sandy
- Tadpoles have hatched
- Pileated woodpeckers are back
- Wild turkeys spotted
- Veblen house and cottage preservation effort, beginning fundraising campaign
- Volunteer day 4/26/2015 hosted more than 30 volunteers for trail maintenance and invasive plant removal and Veblen House grounds cleanup!

FRIENDS OF HERRONTOWN WOODS

139 North Harrison
 Princeton NJ, 08540

FOHW

HERRONTOWN WOODS MAP

Friends of Herrontown Woods

April 2015